RETURN TO THE
LORD YOUR GOD,
FOR HE IS MERCIFUL
AND COMPASSIONATE.
— JOEL 2:13 —

FROM OUR PASTOR

Dear sisters and brothers in Christ,

I pray that all of you are well and looking forward to the warm weather now that Punxsutawney Phil has indicated the imminent arrival of Spring. As you may have imagined, many a prayer has been said by yours truly over the last few weeks to nudge Phil in that direction. 😊

This year Easter comes very early so it means that the Lenten season starts early, too. On Wednesday, February 14th we will kick off the Lenten season with our Ash Wednesday service at 6:00 PM. That service will be preceded by our annual Ash Wednesday luncheon. The Reverend Art Moffat, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church in Moxham will be the featured speaker at the luncheon.

On Tuesday, February 20, 2024, we will start our Lenten Bible Study program. As promised in my last letter to you, it will be a six-week session and will be based on Dr. A J Levine's 'The Gospel of Mark'. I pray you will be able to join us for those sessions.

I continue to interact with our community as an individual and as a representative of our church. I am now into my fourth Saturday of a 12-week soccer clinic at the local YMCA on Saturday evenings. These sessions were fully paid for by our church so all the boys that attend it and their parents are very grateful for this generous opportunity that is made available to them free of charge.

In April, I will be giving a talk at the Penn Highlands Community College for their Leadership Series. I will keep you posted on that.

Once again, thank you for your continued support. You and our church remain my sole focus as we embark on this new year. I seek and cherish your prayers, as always.

Yours in Christ,

Pastor Hyiwot

Dear Members and Friends:

First Presbyterian Church

Everyday Activities Can Give Your Memory and Thinking Skills a Big Boost

Activities that are new, creative or challenging can be especially helpful when done on a regular basis.

When you sit down to do a crossword puzzle or other brain-stimulating activity, it's easy to think about it as your time to give your memory and thinking skills a workout. You might consider it in the same way you view your morning walk as your daily dose of aerobic exercise.

But maybe a more helpful perspective is to think about tasks you can do throughout the day to give your brainpower a boost, rather than just set aside time like you did with homework in your school days.

“The brain is responsible for everything we do,” says Massachusetts General Hospital neuropsychologist Elena Pasternak, PhD. “There are some ways that we are more accustomed to thinking about 'stimulating' brain activities, like doing crossword puzzles or reading literature. But the brain can be stimulated by most all activities that involve active engagement, like activities that involve planning and motor coordination, such as knitting and other crafts, listening to, singing, or playing music, taking a walk in nature, dancing, learning something new; the examples are endless. If you're doing it, your brain is orchestrating it. So, if you're someone who enjoys, say, playing the drums more than crossword puzzles, then play the drums instead.”

Other cognitively stimulating activities include:

- Drawing and painting
- Planting a garden

- Investing money
- Journaling
- Meditation
- Planning a trip
- Reading the news
- Tai chi
- Teaching others

By doing these and other activities throughout the day, you keep your mind engaged more often with things that you find interesting, rewarding, and entertaining. And just as filling your day with your usual routine of activities, it might be helpful to mix things up once in a while.

"Learning or experiencing new things can offer a unique kind of stimulation for the brain that can also contribute to emotional well-being," Dr. Pasternak says. "Again, a new activity that is enjoyable will yield more health benefits rather than forcing an activity that doesn't resonate with you or feels like a chore."

But does it help to look at hobbies and other tasks as brain boosters rather than simply enjoy them as pastimes? "Whether or not it might be helpful to remind ourselves that some of our regularly (or not so regularly) enjoyed activities are also supporting brain health will vary, because what registers as motivating can be highly individual," Dr. Pasternak says. "For some, approaching daily activities and routines from a broader quality-of-life perspective can be a helpful and positive orientation toward brain and overall health-promoting activities. So, engaging in activities that bring you joy and/or a sense of purpose, socializing with people who make you feel meaningfully connected, etc. are all things that contribute to brain health and quality of life overall."

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!

“FIRST PRESBY HAS TALENT” has been rescheduled for February 18th. Hope to see you all there for our Third Sunday Program!

Souper Bowl Offering Sunday - February 11th -

The original prayer of the Souper Bowl of Caring was:

“Lord, even as we enjoy the Super Bowl football game, help us be mindful of those who are without a bowl of soup to eat.”

This mission/outreach was organized in 1990 by the Rev. Dr. Brad Smith then the pastor of Spring Valley Presbyterian Church in Columbia, South Carolina.

His vision was to inspire youth to fight hunger and poverty in their local communities. Since that time the Souper Bowl of Caring has grown to include schools, businesses, civic organizations and churches of all faiths.

To date donations have totaled more than $170 million.

An offering will be received in our congregation on A special offering will be received in our congregation on Super Bowl Sunday, February 11th.

HEART

strings

Make this heartfelt craft as a decoration or gift.

What you need:

- Yarn
- Scissors
- Parchment paper
- Baking sheet
- Heart-shaped cookie cutters
- ¼ cup cornstarch
- ½ cup water
- Adult help

What you do:

1. Cut yarn into 12-inch pieces.
2. Place cookie cutters atop a baking sheet lined with parchment paper.
3. Combine cornstarch and water in a saucepan. Heat mixture over medium heat, stirring until thick and smooth. Remove from heat and cool to form a "glue."
4. Dip each piece of yarn into the mixture to coat completely. Squeeze off any excess.
5. Place yarn in the cookie cutters, allowing pieces to cross and loop within the heart. Add more until the cookie cutter is filled and the yarn looks like a heart.
6. Remove cookie cutters and bake the sheet for two hours at 150°F, or until hearts are dry and hard.

+Christian Symbol+

CROSS OF ASHES

On Ash Wednesday, as Lent begins, worshipers' foreheads are often marked with ashes in the sign of the cross. The ashes traditionally come from burning palm branches from the previous Palm Sunday. In the Old Testament, ashes were a sign of mourning and repentance. Today, some worshipers wipe off the ashes before leaving church, to symbolize being cleansed from sin by Jesus' death; others wear the ashes the rest of the day, carrying the cross of Christ into the world. Reciting Genesis 3:19 often accompanies the placement of ashes: "You are dust, and to dust you shall return."
